and the movement same supplication of manipulation, but the effect seemed to be, for some reason, more cheering upon send-ment than the rather forcible lifting of prices on Tuesday, There may have been some buying for support in to-day's market also, but the great banking interests were not so conspicuous in the dealings. On the other hand, an overextended short interest was a very important facor in lifting prices. While the demand for stocks seemed to come largely from the short interest, as indicated by the large borrowing demand in the loan crowd last night, the rising level of prices brought no sign of the liquidation which has been so persistent and urgent for a long time past.

SENTIMENT INFLUENCED. It was this fact that had the most decisive influence upon sentiment, notwith-standing the recognition of the fact that cisive influence upon sentiment, notwithstanding the recognition of the fact that a very small outside demand was represented in the day's dealings. These reached about the same aggregate as those of yesterday. London helped somewhat toward the advance, the turn of the month there having relaxed the money market considerably and led to some investment buying of consols which had a good recovery. The Bank of England statement did not make a strong showing, but the fact that the bank rate was not advanced and the absence of fallures which were feared caused a cheerful sentiment.
A notable feature of the day was the violent break of about 80 points in demand sterling here under pressure of very large offerings of commercial bills and dearth of demand. Large wheat clearances were reported for the day, and the completion of the cotton corner led to considerable commission-house buying in that market.
The establishment of normal conditions in the coton market is expected to have very important results in this outward movement of that staple, and this led to very free offerings of cotton bills in the exchange market. The early demand for stocks was especially noticeable amongst the coalern, which were helped by the strong statement of net earnings for August by the Lehigh Valley and the admission of E. H. Harriman to the Eric firectory. The expiration of the original period for the United States Steel conversion syndicate and influmitions that the majority of subscribers had accented the extension of the syndicate aroused a hope that the

The offering of specifications by the Pennsylvania Company for work on its terminal project had an effect on the United States Steel stocks, as this work United States Steel stocks, as this work involves a large requirement for steel products. Natural relief was felt that the preparation for the October dividend and interest disbursements have been completed, while the Government bond redemptions and revenue deposit operations are yielding handsome returns to the money market, promising continued exemption from stringency. St. Paul—The room traders, in turning builtsh after the first hour, took their cue from St. Paul, the sharp advance in which was said to be due to buying, obviously for account of Standard Oll interests. Specialists stated there was no selling pressure, and the buying was much "better" than the selling.

Union Pacific—Although Union Pacific rallied harply with the rest of the list, good selling as reported throughout the day. This selling as particularly observed in the last few mintes before the close.

Chicago, Get. 1 .- With increased trade, a day's market for local securities. The Dec. closed ac higher. Dec. corn was off ige, cuts were down ice, while Jan. provisions were from The higher to The lower. WHEAT.

The volume of trading in wheat was larger than for some time past, with the Dec. option leading in the demand. Opening prices were weak, in sympathy with the lower prices in corn, Det. being off William to Salither at Tolac to Tilan, and during tle change in values. Local traders sold freely early in the day and there was freely early in the day and there was some selling by commission-houses, but the inquiry and strength in cash wheat soon became ecident, and this he ped the future deliveries. Kevator interests were good buyers of Dec later in the day, and with only light effectings the market became stronger. As the session advanced prices continued to ascend, Dec selling up to 78%c, the close being at 18%gig., a gain of %c. Charances of wheat and flour were equal to 62,500 hu. The early corn market showed signs of severe demoralization and for a time there appeared to be no bottom to prices. Lower cables, together with hearish crop reports, were responsible for the opening weakness. Later a firmer tone developed on busing by prominent commission houses, which trought out considerable covering by shorts, and much of the early loss was regained. A steadler time prevailed toward the close, and, after selling between 4the

OATE.

Oats, like corn, opened weak under general commission-house selling, but there was enough covering by shorts on the seac. break to bring about a moderate recovery toward the noon hour. Receipts continued light, but country offerings were more liberal. The close was standy, with Dec. off 1/2 at 25c, after ranging between 25/3c and 25/3c. Local receipts were 127 cars. ## SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS

ket. Both the bears and the bulls had a fling at the game, with the latter contingent a control at the close. At the opening there was no encouragement for the buyers The outside demand was extremely light and Liverpool and other foreign markets were weak and lower. Weather conditions were generally favorable and the little crop news received was distinctly beerish. Large quantities of long stuff were thrown on the market on this showing, with buyers holding out for concessions and forcing prices to a lower level. After the early rush to sell the market was dull until the lang. hour, when there was a complete reversal. Reports of heavy acceptances for this ment abroad and prospects of a general drop in temperatures alarmed the shorts, who hastened to cover. Buying was brick until the close.

Corn had no independent strength. The feeling was decidedly weak at the opening and continued so until the advance in wheat caused a sympathetic upward movement in the coarse grain. Receipts were again heavy and export shipments were light.
